

Energy Market Tracker

Real-Time Insights. Smarter Timing. Bigger Savings.

What It Is

The Energy Market Tracker is our proprietary insight tool that monitors live market movements – so you don't have to. Instead of waiting for a renewal letter or a broker's call, we use real-time data and timing strategies to identify market dips and secure rates when it matters most.

How It Works

With our Energy Market Tracker, you can lock savings up to 24 months before your contract ends. By simply sharing a copy of your energy bill or contract, we track your rates against the live market and deliver actionable insights – helping you renew or extend at the right time – not just when prompted to by your renewal notice or broker.

Key Features & Benefits:

Pinpoint the Market Lows

Energy markets move fast – we help you lock in pricing at the right moment, not just when your contract is up for renewal.

Strategic Extensions

If the market drops, we can extend your existing contracts early to take advantage of favourable rates.

No Waiting for Renewal Letters

We're proactive, not reactive. You won't hear from us only when rates are high – we monitor when to act.

Track the Market Daily

We analyse wholesale energy trends and spot savings opportunities before your renewal is even due.

Market Intelligence

We conduct global energy market research – so you stay ahead of the curve and never miss an opportunity.

Cutting-Edge Technology

Our proprietary insight model enables clients to lock in prices within the lowest 1% of market conditions – in simple terms, we secure rates at the best possible moment.

Why It Matters

Most businesses only review energy contracts once a year or when their contract is due for renewal – but by then, it's often too late to secure the best deals. Our tracker flips the process by constantly monitoring for savings, alerting you when timing is optimal, and giving you more control over your energy strategy.

What You Need to Do

To activate the tracker, all we need is a recent energy bill or contract. Quote “Energy Market Tracker” in your email so we can fast-track your analysis and begin tracking your renewal window. From there, we'll:

- ✓ Add your contract to our live tracking tool
- ✓ Monitor for market lows and send tailored alerts
- ✓ Advise when to secure or extend for maximum saving
